About the school

Limassol School of English is an English language school approved by the Ministry of Education.

Our mission is to offer the very best to our students using the latest technology and modern teaching methods. LSE makes learning fun and provides students with lifelong learning and language skills.

The Owner and Director of Studies at LSE founded Limassol School of English in 2011 and has been offering English lessons of all levels to locals and foreigners. The number of students of the school has grown steadily over the past seven years and the increasing demand for lessons for International students has led to the creation of a new, exciting programme Master English in Cyprus which has been extremely popular with holiday makers and students.

The school is conveniently located in the heart of Limassol, within walking distance from the Old Town, shopping centre, lots of cafes and restaurants.

Limassol School of English is a modern space where students feel comfortable and at home. There is a computer lab, a small library and interactive boards in the classrooms.
